Frequently Asked Questions Newborn

When/ how can I book for my newborn session?

The sooner the better, we can't promise availability if you book when the baby is born. We take from you the due date, and based on that we make sure we don't over book our calendar.

What if I delivered before or after my due date?

Its not a problem as long as you inform us the first days you deliver. So we can find you the earliest booking.

How old should my baby be to be accepted for a newborn session?

5 - 15 days old – the younger the better. We don't recommend doing the photo-shoot at this age, the baby is more alert and hard to work with for newborn positions, which might affect the quality of the photos.

Can family member join the photo-shoot?

Yes, if you choose the peach + family package & in the studio. Mother, Father, & Siblings ONLY.

When do we take the family photo with the newborn?

After the photographer is done from taking the newborn photos, we then do the family photo-shoot. All family members should be ready to start the photoshoot before the photographer is done with the session.

Can we always assure the family member that they will take photos with the baby?

No, because sometime the baby is tired towards the end of the photo-shoot therefore the session stops at this point.

When does the session ends?

Your session ends when the photographer gets all the necessary photos to cover the package you purchased. Some babies do so well and the session finishes early. It is not counted by time, but in case the baby was not cooping, the maximum duration for the session is 2 hours.

What does Split Second Provide?

We provide the baby with all outfits, accessories and props.

Can I bring my own props?

All props should be viewed by the photographer before the session and she decides whether it'll look good or not.

Who chooses the setups and colours?

All setups are prepared by the photographer before the photo-shoot. We leave the freedom to the creative team because they know better, however, if there is a specific prop you like from our Social Media pages and would like us to use this should be communicated before the photo-shoot. (But also keeping in mind that not all props are suitable for all babies, it is all according to the baby.)

Yes, we do with an extra cost AED 800 (travel fees).

Do you provide home service for outside Abu Dhabi?

Yes, Al Ain & Dubai – and should be booked in advance.

No.

No, but you can only take some behind the scene photos. Getting in the way of the team while they are working with your baby is not safe and might affect the lighting.

We recommend morning sessions and that is because we use natural sunlight.

The parents only, more people causes a lot of tension in the room which affects the quality of the photos.
